COMMERCIAL FISHING BY HAND FAMILY STILL GOING STRONG

Contrary to popular rumor, commercial fishing in Grimsby is far from dead. In fact, the other day, we dropped down to the Hand establishment at the foot of Maple Ave. to see just how this little known local industry was handled and we spent an interesting half day on Lake Ontario. Then we came back to the office and our esteemed Editor gave us a brief history of the Hand fisheries. Well, as they say in the books, thereby hangs a tale.

Local commercial fishing began well over one hundred years ago when the late Johnny Hand first put forth upon Lake Ontario in his fleet of tiny row boats and sail boats. These little craft were manned by hardy boys who stayed out on the lake for long stretches at a time, sometimes as long as eighteen hours.

The first power boat to be used for commercial fishing in the Dominion of Canada was owned and operated by the Hands. It was built by the Allen Brothers, who were Grimsby boys and the brothers of Mrs. W. Boies Nelles, who now lives down on Main Street east. It was powered by a one cylinder engine.

In the old days the big loads of fish came in the fall and were (Continued on Page 5)

JOHN BROOKS WINS RIDLEY SCHOLARSHIP

Announcement was made last week at Ridley College, St. Catharines, that one of the Dr. J. O. Miller Scholarships has been awarded to John Brooks, son of the Revd. E. A. Brooks and Mrs. Brooks of Grimsby. These scholarships were founded in memory of the first Headmaster of Ridley and are open annually for competition to any boy not in attendance at the school and who has not attained the age of twelve years on the first of May of the year in which the Scholarship examination is written. Three examinations were required—arithmetic, history and literature. They are not based on the Public School curriculum for Ontario, as candidates from all parts of Canada and any State in the Union may sit for them.

The Headmaster of Ridley in commenting on the award said that John has written excellent papers and showed an intelligent method of attacking a question.

John has been a pupil of Miss Helen Gibson in Grade 7 of Grimsby Public School during the past year. He will enter Grade 8 at Ridley Lower School on Sept. 6th this year. He is entitled to hold the Scholarship for two years.

CRAMP TAKES LIFE OF TWENTY YEAR OLD BEAMSVILLE YOUTH

The waters of Lake Ontario claimed the life of twenty year old Donald Shearer, M a y Street, Beamsville, while his brother Craig "Red" Shearer was rescued in a state of near exhaustion. The accident occurred late Sunday afternoon, east of Lincoln Avenue, Beamsville, as the two boys drifted away from a crowded beach, using a make-shift raft which was carried along by a fairly strong off-shore breeze.

The brothers had been atop the raft for a considerable time, when Craig swam to shore to speak to a companion, Hunter Jenkins, who was sitting on the beach.

"Red" sat down for a minute to have a smoke," said Jenkins, and I kidded him about taking so long to swim from the raft to shore. He then swam back out to rejoin his brother on the raft, which by this time had drifted some three hundred yards out in the lake and nearly half a mile from the foot of Lincoln Avenue.

According to Craig, he returned to the raft and his brother said that he didn't think he could swim to shore. "I told him the best thing for us to do was for me to swim in and get a boat. I dove in and started to swim, when I noticed Don had also left the raft and was following. Suddenly he complained of a cramp and I returned to help him. We both went under the water. I could not hold him. He never came back to the surface."

Craig was then picked up by a boat, but no trace could be found of Donald. Dragging operations were started very shortly, under the supervision of Provincial Constables Garrett and Robbie. These continued until after dark, and were called off then until seven o'clock Monday morning. At 8.40 Monday morning, the body was located in twenty feet of water, as police and volunteers combed the area in small boats, and a fishing boat brought to the scene by Bill Hand of Grimsby, Gary Lampman of Beamsville, brought the body to the surface.

This tragedy marks the first drowning fatality in this area for sometime, and it strikes the Shearer family especially hard, as the victim's father, Andrew Shearer, was killed in a railway-crossing accident just three years ago. A sister, Lloy, also survives besides the sorrowing mother, who was away for the weekend when the accident happened.

EARL J. MARSH LIONS PRESIDENT

Officially taking over the reins of office this week, the new president of the Grimsby Lions Club, Earl J. Marsh, prominent citizen of this town, will immediately put his efforts behind the Lions Carnival which is one of the major events put on by the local Lions in an effort to raise funds. During the ten year existence of the Grimsby Lions Club, much has been accomplished in civic improvement and other well worthwhile endeavours, and this Carnival is perhaps the one real chance the people will have to say thanks to the Lions for services rendered in the past. See you at the Carnival!

THE N. M. BARTLETT SPRAY PLANT

When an explosion and quickly spreading fire wiped out a great portion of the N. M. Bartlett Spray Works on November 11, 1948, the energetic owner and braintrust of this plant, which produces a great portion of the spraying materials used in Canada by fruit growers, wasted little time lining up a bigger and more efficient plant. Less than four months after the disastrous fire, production was all ready to begin, and to-day the enlarged plant is in full operation, turning out among other products the finest microscopic sulphur in the world. The new buildings of steel and aluminum construction and cement construction comprise some thirteen thousand square feet of floor space, and the plant stretches some four hundred feet. Comprised of a sulphur mill which is a gigantic structure, as can be ascertained in the insert as it dwarfs Mr. Bartlett, considerable storage space and spray producing units are included. At the extreme right the grader department, now much more spacious, turns out fruit graders for distribution throughout the world.

50 YEARS CONSERVATIVE RULE IS BROKEN BY HARRY CAVERS

For the first time in 53 years Lincoln County backed the Liberal party and elected to the Federal House, 39-year-old Harry P. Cavers, barrister of the City of St. Catharines.

For the Liberal Party it was their greatest political triumph in the history of the Dominion, and the Conservative stronghold of Lincoln was only one of several Tory constituencies to fall beneath the wheels of the Liberal avalanche.

Monday's election was featured by the record vote, which speaks highly of the intelligence of the Canadian people, who in exercising their valued privilege not only gave the Liberals an overwhelming majority, but reduced the C.C.F. party to a mere shadow. In Lincoln Allan Schroeder and Howard Prentice, C.C.F. and Independent candidates respectively, both lost their $200.00 deposits. Mr. Schroeder polled only 86 ballots in the Town of Grimsby, and 80 in North Grimsby Township.

In Grimsby, Mr. C. Bruce Hill, Progressive Conservative candidate, held a majority of 103 votes over Cavers, while in the Township of North Grimsby Mr. Hill's margin was narrowed to a majority of only six votes.

These figures show that in the Town of Grimsby the Conservatives made a gain over the Liberal candidate in the 1945 federal election; however, in the Township, the Conservative majority was considerably under the margin held in 1945.

At press time it remains impossible to give an accurate recapitulation of Lincoln County in its entirety. One analysis of the voting in Lincoln shows that the Townships of Niagara, Grantham and Clinton gave Cavers a clear-cut margin, while the city of St. Catharines gave Cavers an unofficial majority of nearly fifteen hundred ballots.

The Village of Beamsville gave Mr. Hill his greatest majority, perhaps it is significant that it was in Beamsville that Mr. Hill received his nomination and elected to stand as a packed community hall roared its approval. It was also at Beamsville that Mac Lockhart gave his now famous address and officially gave notice of his retirement as Lincoln's most famous representative in Ottawa. There is little doubt in the minds of thousands of Lincoln voters that had Lockhart stood for re-election he would have been returned to office.

Figures show that again it was the west end of Lincoln that remains the Conservative stronghold. As Monday night's returns started rolling in, and a Liberal landslide was indicated, it was plainly evident here in Grimsby that regardless of which of the two major parties won out—the C.C.F. was not gaining but actually losing face.

The defeat of the C.C.F. in Saskatchewan, coupled with the Soc. list losses in British Columbia and the poor showing in Ontario is very impressive. It indicates that Canadians are not in the mood for Socialism and that they chose one of the two great Canadian parties to represent them. Obviously a great portion of the only mildly leftist vote, which is not rigidly Socialist, deserted the C.C.F. for the Liberals or Conservatives.

A final Party standing as compared with 1945 indicates:

	1949	1945
LIBERAL	193	118
Progressive Conservative	42	66
C.C.F.	12	28
Social Credit	10	13
Independent	4	8

Localizing the election scene, the following figures speak for themselves.

TOWN OF GRIMSBY

Prentice	5	3	10	6	3	5	32
Schroeder	17	19	20	3	7	14	80

Mr. Cavers' victory over Mr. Hill in Tory Lincoln was all the more notable because of the fact that he polled some 3,283 votes more than his nearest opponent. According to unofficial figures Mr. Cavers polled a total of 17,641 against 14,358 for Mr. Hill.

A poor third was Schroeder, C.C.F. candidate, who polled only 5,954, and thereby lost his deposit. Mr. Prentice, who went along for the ride and a rather lonesome one at that polled only 751. Still unofficially, Lincoln polled an estimated 38,704 or nearly 77 per cent of the total. Again we stress that these figures are not official due to the failure of deputy returning officers in various sections of the County in filing their returns accurately and speedily.

In Grimsby and the Township all results were given to the Independent in very short order, with the exception of the results from the Baptist Church, No. 117, where as usual the officials held things up for a considerable time.

And so the much publicized election goes into the record of Canadian history as one of the most remarkable on record. In many sections such as our own Lincoln, a new party has taken over to voice the opinions of its people. It is at a time such as this that the newspaper will look forward to giving its continued support to the party which it believes in and will always stand for. Unlike some vicious daily papers whose smear campaigns have no part in Canadian politics we do not have to retract any statements made in pre-election ballyhoo. The Independent will continue to stand for its party, but at the same time will continue to boost Lincoln as long as its people continue to vote for democracy above all.

THE SCHOOL AREA QUESTION

Through the kindness of Mr. W. Pinder of Grimsby, the following document has come into the hands of The Independent. It was prepared by the Clerk of the Village of Arthur in Wellington county, Mr. A. L. Pinder, and shows the present cost of secondary school education to the various municipalities in the proposed high school area in that district as compared with cost to them under the proposed new system. The following is the document:

"KEEP CANADA BRITISH"

The Toronto Daily Star in its issue of Saturday, June 25, came out with what is in our opinion the grand-daddy of all smear campaigns. In what was apparently a last desperate effort to discredit George Drew they tried to link his name with that of Mayor Camille Houde of Montreal, and at the same time made Mayor Houde out to be a very unsavory character. Well, we don't know what connection there is between Mr. Drew and Mayor Houde and in any case it is now a dead issue, since the election has been fought and won since then. Our interest was caught and we might say that our dander was raised, just a little, by the 1 1/2 inch headlines which adorned the front page of that paper:

Keep Canada British
Destroy Drew's Houde
God Save The King.
In that top line there is a very nasty implication.

Quebec is one of the major provinces of Canada. Her population is large and as a result she controls a goodly number of seats in the House of Commons. As well she controls 24 senatorial seats. In other words Quebec comprises a large block of power in this Dominion. Her people are, in the majority, French speaking but they are Canadians. They have no more connection with France and are inclined to feel no more allegiance to her than you or I. They are Canadians.

We in this part of Canada are mostly of British stock but we have no reason to feel that we are a colony of Britain, although we used to be just that. We have severed our connection, as a colony, with Britain and are now a sister nation to her, not a colony. We are Canadians.

This election is or was a Canadian affair and the people who vote are all Canadians, the parties which are running are Canadian parties, at least the major ones, and the issues at stake are ones which are peculiar to Canada alone. Where then does the Star find the authority to scream in its headlines "Keep Canada British?"

But perhaps the Star doesn't really mean "British". Perhaps it means something else. The two major racial groups in this country are the British and the French. As well, there are others too numerous to mention in detail but they are increasing as the displaced persons of Europe filter into our

Arthur Township	2,520.00

West Garafraxa (1/2)	720.00

Total	$ 12,000.00

Prepared by: A. L. Pinder, Clerk of Arthur Village, and Clerk of the Wellington County New High School Area, in that territory.

You will note that this area consists of two villages, Arthur and Drayton and four rural areas, Peel, Arthur, West Luther and West Garafraxa townships. This is somewhat similar in makeup to the proposed area in this district where Grimsby, Beamsville, Clinton Township, North Grimsby Township and West Louth Township will be included. In their meeting of Friday, May 13, 1949, the Grimsby town council, on the recommendation of the local school board passed a motion recommending that the county council should set up this proposed area in this district. We are now awaiting action by the county council.

The above figures show that the total cost of secondary school education to the district under the present system is $14,667.53. If a new school were established to handle the schooling of the whole area the cost might run to $40,000. A government grant of 70% would take care of $28,000 of this, leaving $12,000 to be paid by the municipalities of the area. This is a reduction of $2,667.53 in cost of education while the educational facilities are greatly increased as is the efficiency of the system. When split among six municipalities the saving is not large but when one takes into consideration the fact that much better facilities are being provided at less cost to the taxpayer, it seems well worth while.

From information received here it would seem that actually we in this area are a little more advanced toward the establishment of the school area than they are up in that part of Wellington county. It seems to us, however, that a document such as the one above, prepared and published in and for this area would be a great help in showing the taxpayers here just what the school area question is all about.

ports. In this area they are represented as they are in every part of Canada, the Ukrainians, the Polish, the Yugoslavians and others. These people are settling here and as they become eligible they take out Canadian citizenship and THEY HAVE A VOTE. Perhaps the Star may have meant "Keep Canada of British Extraction." Instead of just "British." In the particular context in which the line is used this would be "British" as opposed to "French" but it would seem to exclude all these others as well.

We have a nasty phrase which describes this sort of thing. Its "racial prejudice" and thinking people are inclined to take a very dim view of anyone who makes a habit of practicing it. The editors of the Star seem to have overlooked that point when they printed their headlines last Saturday. Among the people who are thinking about who they will vote for, a statement like that loses far more votes than it gains. We don't know at this writing who won the election but if it was the Liberals it was partly because they didn't have many short-sighted editors working for them.

Then again, maybe the boys didn't really mean any harm with their headlines last Saturday. Maybe they were short of material and needed some filler. Even if that was the case they didn't do very well because anybody knows that filler consists of interesting information and there certainly was nothing informative about that headline. Besides if we kept Canada strictly of "British Extraction" or even strictly "British," what ever would happen to Mr. St. Laurent?

WHAT DO WE PLANT ?

What do we plant when we plant the tree?
We plant the ship, which will cross the sea.
We plant the mast to carry the sails;
We plant the planks to withstand the gales—
The keel, the keelson, the beam, the knee;
We plant the ship when we plant the tree.

What do we plant when we plant the tree?
We plant the houses for you and me.
We plant the rafters, the shingles, the floors,
We plant the studding, the lath, the doors,
The beams and siding, all parts that be;
We plant the house when we plant the tree.

What do we plant when we plant the tree?
A thousand things that we daily see;
We plant the spire that out-towers the crag;
We plant the staff for our country's flag;
We plant the shade, from the hot sun free,
We plant all these when we plant the tree.

IF HE'S GING TO LIVE HE'S GOT TO FISH

Did you ever hear of a woman dying from coronary thrombosis? No, sir, such cases are as scarce as hen's teeth. But the men, hmmm, his disease is knocking them off like ten pins, and in the early forties, too. Now why is that so? Well, a woman gets married, lives a sheltered life and gets fat. She gets her work done in the morning, and either sleeps or plays tridge in the afternoon. At night she makes her dog-tired husband go to a show or a dance—which she enjoys, and the old man endures. This is just another straw added to the camel's—I mean the husband's back. Moreover, and this is important, the woman is king of her castle. She is boss in her own home. She isn't a slave under some Simon Legree who cracks the whip from morning until night. She is not subject to the stress and strain of modern business. In short, she is not afraid of losing her job.

The husbands haven't time to worry about their health, they are too busy pushing their noses against the grindstone. They can't take a nap in the afternoon. They can't even sleep Saturdays, because that is the day the Queen takes over and gives orders. "Put up the screens, cut the grass, weed the garden, fix the hinges on the front door, wash the windows, paint the verandah." Then, in the face of this tremendous pressure, the poor guy, prematurely old, curls up like a withered leaf and dies—of coronary thrombosis. So, his fresh young wife, catches the insurance, and being remarkably well-served marries some other guy, and keeps her job—as boss.

What can be done? I think the answer is "escape." I don't mean to hit the rods and forsoke the good, kind little woman. But still the hubbies need escape from work, from people, from noise, from civilization, from those week end chores. And the place to go, —why fishing, of course. After all, girls, that harmless-looking slave you married is an investment worth protecting. Think of all the headaches you would have training a new one. He is entitled to several days whipping a stream for browns or speckles, or casting for pickerel or pike. He needs the stimulating, refreshing contact with the out-doors. He needs to hear the frogs croaking, the birds singing, smell the lush green meadows and the dank deep woods. He needs to have the cobwebs of modern-day living swept away by the sunlight and cool breezes that hunt every trout stream. And when he comes home, dog-tired but happy, he will sleep like a log. Good healthy, strength-restoring sleep, and as a result the ticker will beat out a rhythm assuring old age, or at least three-score years.

You think I'm kidding, do you girls? Well, I am very serious, and after you have chuckled a bit about the digs I gave you, just take a look at that guy you see once in a while at meal-times, and figure it out yourself. What chance has he of reaching 50, if he keeps on his high-gear living? Is he not like many more men who in their crazy, stupid, eternal fight for the dollar, have forgotten what it means to play, what it means to laugh, what it means to live? Perhaps a little soul-searching might be the stitch in time. Send the guy off fishing, and tell him to leave the booze at home on the trips, because the exercise he gets is sufficient stimulation.

POINT TO WATCH IN DROWNING CASES

All drowning fatalities are not necessarily due only to carelessness on the part of the victims, it is stated by Dr. Gordon Bates, of Toronto, in an editorial in the current issue of Health, magazine of the Health League of Canada. Too frequently there is lack of knowledge as to proper means of artificial respiration on the part of onlookers anxious to help.

"Artificial respiration" says the editorial, "should always be immediate and continuously applied by persons with some knowledge of the procedure. There are misapprehensions, however, which in some cases have led to tragedy. In spite of widespread publicity about ten years ago in the Canadian press, there still remains in the minds of many the idea that a person who has been under water for more than a few minutes cannot be revived by artificial respiration. This is not true. There have been instances of individuals who have been revived after having been as long as half an hour in the water."

A NOD TO BEN HUR

There are grounds for believing that the present gauge of 4 feet 8 1/2 inches between the rails of our modern railway tracks had its origin in ancient Rome. Strange as it may seem, historians claim that the clearance between the wheels of Ben Hur's chariot was the same as that which now exists between the wheels of a modern Canadian National Railway locomotive, passenger or freight car... and the distance between the wheels of a Roman chariot was established by Julius Caesar. He, for reasons best known to himself, decided that this space should equal the distance covered by two strides by one of his soldiers. This happened to be 4 feet 8 1/2 inches which, it may be remarked, is about 3 1/2 inches less than the distance one of our own Army boys would normally cover in two paces to-day.

Here is how the historians trace the connection. When the ancient Roman chariot evolved into the coach and cart of medieval Europe, the same clearance between the wheels was maintained. In the 16th and 17th centuries, when rail tracks were first built in England for hauling coal from collieries to ships, they were constructed to accommodate horse drawn carts whose wheels had a clearance of 4 feet 8 1/2 inches. It was natural then that when George Stephenson built the first successful steam locomotive, he should design it to run on tracks with a gauge of 4 feet 8 1/2 inches. Since these locomotives were the first to be used in North America, the first railways in Canada and the United States were built with this gauge.

As the railroad industry expanded in the 19th century, other gauges came into use but the original gauge of 4 feet 8 1/2 inches has survived to become the standard in Canada, the United States and England.

In the 19th century when railway construction was booming, the width of the track gauge was decided by individual companies. As a result, a variety of gauges came into being and by 1850 gauges in Canada ranged from 3 feet 6 inches to 5 feet 6 inches.

To put an end to this situation, Canadian railways in 1850 decided to adopt a standard gauge of 5 feet 6 inches. This gauge was adopted as standard by the Railway Committee of the Legislature of the Province of Canada and remained so for more than twenty years. Thus the Great Western, The Grand Trunk, the Intercolonial Railways, all now part of the Canadian National System, operated on the same gauge and the interchange of freight and passenger equipment was made possible.

Although the new standard solved the problem of free interchange of domestic traffic, from one line to another in Canada, it left unsolved the interchange of traffic with U.S. lines, because most of the U.S. lines were operating on a gauge of 4 feet 8 1/2 inches. As international traffic increased it became more undesirable to maintain these varying gauges in Canada. Therefore, in 1872, the Grand Trunk and Great Western Railways adopted the 4 foot 8 1/2 inch gauge and the Intercolonial followed suit two years later.

The standardization of gauge throughout Canada and the United States has proven to be one of the most important factors in our present day economy. Now a railway car loaded anywhere on connecting railways in North America can be moved to any other part of the continent where there is a railway line. To this fact the speed, convenience and cheapness of railway transportation is, in large measure, attributable.

MAN'S FAITHFUL FRIEND

I've never known a dog to wag
His tail in glee he did not feel.
Nor quit his old-time friend to tag
At some more influential heel.
The yellowest cur I ever knew,
Was to the boy who loved him, true.

I've never known a dog to show
Halfway devotion to his friend,
To seek a kinder man to know,
Or richer, but unto the end
The humblest dog I ever knew
Was to the man who loved him, true.

I've never known a dog to fake
Affection for a present gain.
A false display of love to make
Some little favor to attain.
I've never known a Duke or Spot
That seemed to be what he was not.
No dog, however mean or rude,
Is guilty of ingratitude.

More Telephone Workers...

AND HIGHER WAGES HAVE GREATLY INCREASED OUR COSTS

In the past five years the number of employees has doubled and our payroll has gone up from 20 million dollars to over 50 million dollars. Yet, up to now, despite rising costs on all sides there has been no increase in the basic telephone rates established 22 years ago.

To meet unprecedented post-war demand for more telephones, our expansion and improvement of service have of necessity taken place in a period of rapidly rising costs. Most businesses have offset their higher costs by higher prices for their products. We have not yet done so.

You can be sure we will keep on doing our best to provide you with adequate and constantly improving telephone service—and to provide it at the lowest rates consistent with a fair return to our investors and employees.

BETTER SIDE OF ELECTIONEERING

If P.C. Leader George Drew and Prime Minister St. Laurent ever get together to discuss their election tour and compare photographs, they will find they have one idea in common—how to win friends and influence people. From Halifax to Vancouver, they have cajoled children, smiled and waved to curious throngs, visited local authorities, posed with girls' bands, Indian chiefs and signed autographs. Their wives have accompanied them on their tours, have both been political assets to their husbands.

ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION WILL SAVE MANY YOUNG LIVES

(By Dr. D. V. Currey, M.D.,
Director, St. Catharines-Lincoln
Health Unit)

With the approach of summer, and because so many persons go in swimming, everyone should know something about artificial respiration, as one never knows when this may be necessary. This simple procedure is not only of great importance in the treatment of drowning, but also in electric shock, gas poisoning, choking, inhalation of smoke and some other less serious conditions.

Among our most common accidents is drowning or near drowning. These accidents frequently come in summer, when reports by the waterside are thronged with youth learning to swim, enjoying themselves and taking risks as all youth likes to do. They occur on occasion in winter when someone slides into a hole in the ice.

The patient involved in a drowning accident should be placed face downward with the head downhill on slight incline, with the right arm extended directly overhead and the left arm bent at the elbow. The head should be turned to the right resting on the hand or forearm, so that the mouth and nose are free for breathing. Quickly loosen constricting clothing. The mouth should be examined in order to see that it contains nothing which would interfere with breathing. These preparations must be effected rapidly, as there is no time to waste.

Kneel astride the patient's thighs with your knees placed at such distance from the hip-bones as will allow you to place the palms of the hands on the small of the back with the fingers resting on the ribs. The little finger should just touch the lowest rib. The thumb and fingers should be in a natural position with the tips of the fingers just out of sight. With arms held straight, swing forward slowly so that the weight of your body is gradually brought to bear upon the patient, but the elbows must not be bent. The operation takes about two seconds, whereupon you should swing backwards so as to remove the pressure completely.

The effect is to squeeze the air, or water, out of the lungs and to allow the entrance of fresh air which enters by removal of the pressure. After a wait of two seconds, swing forward again, thus repeating the operation just described. These proceedings should be repeated at the rate of 12 to 15 times a minute. They are, you will observe, an imitation of ordinary respiration, the drawing in and out of the breath every four or five seconds. There is nothing difficult about it, but the average person does this work too quickly.

Artificial respiration should strictly be drilled into the minds of children in the schools and elsewhere. Sooner or later it may come to anyone to be able to save a life by this means. The operation of swinging forward and making pressure on the lungs for two seconds and the release of pressure for a similar period should be continued until the patient breathes freely or, until a physician orders it stopped. The operator must not be discouraged if there is no success during the first hour or even two. Many lives have been saved by means of artificial respiration when there seemed not a shred of hope. Continue to carry on either by yourself or by means of reliefs until the doctor says there is no hope. Only by repeated practice can anyone become efficient in artificial respiration.

In electric shock, the electric current passes through the person's body from a conductor of electrically-charged wire, rail or a faulty domestic electrical fixture. The signs of electric shock are sudden loss of consciousness, stoppage of breathing, and severe burns where the conductor has touched the flesh. The first thing to do in such cases is to break the contact between the victim and the electrical conductor. But do not touch the victim's body or clothing until the current is cut off. Such a course would simply mean another victim. If the current cannot be cut off from the source, either try to remove the conductor from the victim's body by using some non-conducting agent, or try to pull the victim's body away from the conductor by some non-conducting agent. A doctor should at once be summoned and in the meantime artificial respiration is begun as already described.

In gas poisoning the most deadly agent is carbon-monoxide gas, such as comes from the exhaust of a motor car. This gas is particularly dangerous because it gives no smell, unless it is mixed with other substances giving an odour. In addition to motors, other agencies giving off carbon-monoxide are ill-fitting water heaters, loose fittings, and valves, leaky gas tubing and as furnaces not connected to outdoor air by flues. A motor car should never be started in a closed garage. Many persons have the view that accidental poisoning from illuminating gas happens only when there is a leak, but this is not a fact. Carbon-monoxide gas may be given off when the gas is burning. Natural gas, though normally not containing carbon-monoxide gas, nevertheless may produce this gas when the flame comes into contact with cold metal, as when a large boiler of water is put over a gas flame.

In rescuing a person overcome by gas, one must be sure to protect himself against the gas. A wet cloth over the nose and mouth is not sufficient. One should tie a rope about the waist and have someone on the outside of the room where the victim is, ready to pull the rescuer out if he falls. In these cases, get the victim into the fresh air immediately. Begin and continue artificial respiration until the doctor tells you there is no hope, or until the breathing is regular. Keep the person's body warm and aid the circulation by rubbing the limbs towards the heart. The rescued person must have rest. Even slight exercise following gas poisoning is dangerous. Other gases, such as sulphur dioxide, hydrogen sulphate, etc., require similar treatment.

If you do not know how to do artificial respiration, practice this procedure. To-morrow you may save a life. Those who attended the Child Study Programme at the St. Catharines Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, may now get a copy of the outline of the lectures from the St. Catharines-Lincoln Health Unit. If you have not received your copy, please call or send your subscription to the Unit at once.

GOURMETS CONTEST

Several years ago in Paris, a score of France's leading gourmets were invited to a special "contest" dinner at which they were to demonstrate their knowledge of foods and wines by naming each one served. All gladly attended, although they knew that the dishes would be prepared to confuse them. The winner correctly named when and where five of the six wines were made, but could recognize only three of the seven foods. Only two other contestants identified the reindeer; and all flunked on the rabbit dish. The chefs had completely disguised its taste by plying the rabbits with brandy for a week and also by seasoning the meat while cooking with a dash of civet and tarragon vinegar.

Although the number of hens that are laying eggs is 10 per cent lower than last year, every group of 100 birds is producing 15 more eggs than last year.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY A COMMUNITY RESPONSIBILITY

This is one of a series of articles submitted by The Children's Aid Society of the City of St. Catharines and the County of Lincoln. Our purpose is to further community understanding and interest in all programs dedicated to raising the standards of child and family life in our midst.

"If We Could Only Hear Our Children Arguing"

For several years these comparatively young parents had lived in fear of their two children being taken away from them.

Jimmy was now ten and his sister May was six years of age. Both were getting to that stage where more of their time as children would be spent away from the home at school and play and with this would be associated the many and varied conversations with their playmates who in turn would talk to their parents and so on.

Why should this unduly upset any parent? Surely a mother and father of normal intelligence like Jimmy's and May's would want to see their children mix freely with others and gradually become more independent, responsible boys and girls. How could children be expected to mature into normal healthy adults if overprotected and shielded by their parents?

Perhaps the simplest and most direct way to explain the father's and mother's attitude in this case would be to tell you that both parents were stone deaf and couldn't speak. Yet here were two perfectly healthy, normal children born of this union who had possession of all their mental and physical faculties.

Picture if you will, a neat, spotlessly clean and tastefully furnished home where children never in their comparatively short life-time had heard their names spoken to them in affectionate tones by either mother or father.

Where all directions and explanations of the why's, where's and don't's in their early years had to be explained by a shake of the head, a nod or a move of the hands and fingers.

Jimmy at 10 had mastered the sign language quite well for his age, but May was still trying hard with her tiny fingers and she sometimes became quite confused.

As for their parents, they had been drawn together some fifteen years ago through a handicap which they shared in common and between them developed a rich and understanding love and respect for each other which eventually culminated in marriage.

One of the fears which had haunted them since their earliest days as newly weds was whether they would be able to have normal children and secondly, whether they would be able to look after them without "someone calling the Children's Aid Society and saying we shouldn't have them."

Here one can best illustrate the fact that the love between parent and child goes much deeper than the occasional word of endearment exchanged between them. Here one could see the really, deep-rooted intangible evidence of a healthy parent-child relationship.

However, like all parents, their problems increased in number and intensity as their children grew older and more worldly. Jimmy was finding his little sister too young to play with and was seeking the companionship of the boys at school his own age. Even here he found his problems, for one or two had made use of that rather unscrupulous privilege of children, if one can call it a privilege, of making fun of Jimmy's parents in front of him because they couldn't speak or hear. One boy even went so far as to swear at Jimmy's mother one day when Jimmy was with her, knowing that she couldn't hear him. Think of the confusion and sheer frustration which this lad was called upon to face at such an early age.

The Children's Aid Society were brought into this situation by the school Principal who noticed Jimmy's work and interest on the decline.

The worker with patience and understanding, was able to interpret to the boy these things that were bothering him as related to his parents. Likewise she was able to reassure the mother and father that we were as an agency, very anxious to help them.

Thus acting somewhat as a "go between," between parents, children and the community at large, the worker was able to stave off what might have been a broken home.

Almost from the outset one could see in the eyes of these parents the tremendous burden of fear lifted as they realized that the Children's Aid Society was interested in them for the express purpose of seeing that their home and family were kept together and strengthened.

Conversations between the social worker and the parents was by means of a pencil and pad with young Jimmy occasionally acting as an interpreter when sign language was used.

One could quite easily take hours to relate the many interesting milestones passed in assisting and counselling this family but space does not permit.

However, one thing remains certain and that is the realization that your support and interest in the Children's Aid Society and its work, helps to make a home and a family strong and unified out of what might have been four broken and unhappy lives.

Commercial Fishing run home from the fishing grounds and are iced at once and shipped to the city for sale.

We arrived at the dock promptly at 6:45 a.m. (according to the order we had received the night before in regard to being there on time) and found ourselves to be a little ahead of the fishermen. We were going out in Mr. Ted Hand's 31-foot open work boat. She is powered by an eight cylinder marine engine and is capable of from nine to ten miles per hour. We had just finished looking the boat over when Ted and Keith Brown arrived and we were on our way.

The wind was offshore. This caused a short stretch of smooth water while we were still in close but it was a little rougher out a mile or so. Then it smoothed out a bit and the wind seemed to die. Ted told us this was due to the warm south wind hitting the cold water and that it wouldn't happen later on when the water got warmer. We were running in a North-East direction but the compass was not in use since it was possible to take the Grimsby Point as a guide and keep a straight course by watching it. The nets were 58 minutes running time out and since we were not backing wind or rough water by the time 58 minutes were gone we were, as Ted put it, "close enough to spit on the marker buoy." All these buoys are marked distinctly so that each fisherman can tell his own from far off without wasting time running up to each one he sees. Ted saw our first and pointed it out to me. Two flags were the markers that told us it was the right one.

The nets used are made of cotton and are of the gill net type. They are laid in lengths of six hundred feet from large reels which are about six feet wide. There are two boom-like support which extend from the stern of the boat on each side and are notched near the end. The ends of the axle of the reel fit into these notches and as the boat moves forward the net is run off like thread off a spool. Sometimes to save time a net which has just been "pulled" and is still in its box is laid right from the box. In this case it passes through two pair of hands before it reaches the water so that it will not tangle.

Pulling or lifting the nets is a mechanical process. A net puller works on a special clutch off the main power unit giving the fishermen an easier time than in the old days when the nets were all pulled by hand. The puller consists mainly of two drums both of which revolve. One is out over the side and the net is pulled up over it by the other drum which revolves in a horizontal position pulling the net around it by means of clamps in its side. As the net passes around the second drum it is run into a box and as it enters the box the fish are removed from it by the men. The fish are caught in these fine meshed nets by running into it and getting their gills tangled. The men release this tangle and throw the fish into a nearby box. An average catch for a morning is about 200 pounds and this from five reels of net which total about 3000 feet. Average time for pulling a 600 foot reel is twenty minutes and for laying it out again about ten minutes. In a good day two men are able to pull about 2 miles of net but at the present there are only three sets of 3000 feet each out. These nets are laid about 300 feet deep and the sudden pressure change often causes damage to the cork floats and to the fish which are caught.

At the present time the boats are going out for Cisco which are called Lake Herring or as Ted put it "Lake Ontario Chub." In about two weeks the whitefish will start and sometime in July and running until September, trout will be caught. True Herring are taken as well. Cisco and Herring are taken about ten to 15 miles out while Trout and Whitefish are found about five or six miles from shore. As the fish are taken from the nets they are sorted and the ones that are to small or badly split by pressure or have bones sticking out are thrown back. After the nets were pulled and re-laid (which takes about two hours) began our "homeward voyage" (phrase from Gordon Sinclair) at which time we took over the helm while Keith and Ted cleaned the two hundred pounds of fish we had taken. Bucking the offshore breeze, it took us a little longer for the run back (and maybe the navigation was a little poor) but we were in by about 12:30 p.m.

G.H.S. Cadets

L. Piotrowski, J. Lawson, L. Christie, represented Grimsby High School. There were several boys who, at the last moment, were unable to join the above group.

The training was well carried out with our boys, who were in Company A, contributing a great deal to the sports program held at the camp. A Company won the Junior and Senior championships in track and field both of which were decided on a total points basis. They were also the softball and volleyball champs. George Kapusty won the high jump for his Company with a 5'2" hurdle and was also the outstanding marksman for the battalion, winning the award on the 25 yard range.

The cadets enjoyed, above all, the fieldcraft films and the L.M.G.

STOLEN SYMPHONIES

For more than 300 years Allegri's famous musical composition Miserere has been sung during Holy Week in the Sistine Chapel in Rome. The work was considered so sacred that, for well over a century, its score was jealously guarded and anyone who attempted to transcribe it was subject to excommunication. But in 1769, Mozart, then a boy of thirteen, disregarded the threat and wrote the composition down from memory after hearing it twice. Soon afterward, it was published in England.

GRIMSBY BEACH CUBS

The last regular meeting of the year of the Grimsby Beach Wolf Cubs was held on Friday in the pack den. Harry Astle was the recipient of three badges, the First Aid, Homecraft and Artist badges, and he was cheered by the Cubs, Akela and Bagheera, for these were the last possible badges he could earn. His array of badges being complete, Harry may well be proud for having won everything and passed every test while a Cub. Cub Camp this summer was the favorite topic of discussion at the meeting. Akela announcing that the older Cubs will have two nights at camp, much to their delight. Cubs will be contacted later when final arrangements have been made.

Till then, Good Hunting, Cubs!

OPTICAL ILLUSION

To correct an optical illusion caused by the different wave lengths of colors, the three vertical stripes—blue, white and red—in the flag of France are not of equal width. They have to be made in the proportion of 100 for the blue, 110 for the white and 124 for the red to make them appear equal.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL
BIG HIT AT FRUITLAND

A huge crowd filled the Fruitland School grounds to overflowing, on Friday night when the Fruitland Men's Community Club held their Annual Strawberry Festival and Carnival. The crowd were not disappointed for the delicious strawberries, cake and ice cream served by the ladies of club members, were worth travelling far for. In addition to this treat was a stage show, "Television Varieties of 1949," put on by the Young People's Society of New Westminster Presbyterian Church of Hamilton, and was directed by Tom Phillips. The show was an excellent one, taking the form of a musical revue, aided by the well thought out scenery and stage costumes. Stewart McPhail was the announcer, the feature players were Irene Wardrop and Roy Abbott, with a cast of over fifty players. The comedian was a great hit, and brought a laugh from everyone, as he put on a most interesting act. Bingo, and other games kept the crowd there until late, with Mrs. Horalshyn of Fruitland winning the door prize. A children's prize was won by Mary White. Conveners for the refreshments and the supper were Mrs. George Utter, Mrs. J. Whitfield, Sr. and Mrs. J. Whitfield, Jr. This event is a yearly feature of the Men's Club, and as was seen by the crowd it is not losing but gaining in popularity.

FORTY GIRLS SERVING AT WINONA CAMP

The Winona Farm Service Camp has swung into another busy season with over forty girls registered already. They are pouring in steadily from places such as Sudbury, Kirkland Lake, Montreal and Quebec. Camp Mother this year is Mrs. W. Hulase from Toronto, who will take care of the girls. Mrs. Hulase reports that there is a "run" at present at the camp "hospital" for sunburn remedies and treatment of blisters, with which she can hardly cope. However, she agrees that as the summer "tans" progress this is a problem that will disappear. Helping her through the busy days is first assistant Wilda Gibbs, Barbara Fillmore, and Beverly Bonham. Secretary for the camp is Miss Lillian Southrop from Cornwall, England. The camp has an excellent cook in Miss Edith Jubb who spent last summer at the camp in Oakville. It is hoped that a softball team will be soon in full swing, and badminton games. Wednesday nights will be the big evening at the camp, for these evenings have been set aside as Social Night, when boys may visit, dancing and refreshments will be enjoyed by all. A committee of four girls were elected last week to take care of these entertainments, and are Janet Russell, Elizabeth Cranston, Betty Love and Diane Tane.

SUNRISE BREAKFAST
BY ST. JOHN'S CHURCH ON SHORE OF LAKE

On Sunday morning, Rev. A. E. Ongley officiated in formally dedicating eleven new members into office for the St. John's Anglican Church servers' guild. The presentation of the new servers vestments took place, consisting of red cassock, white cotta, server's medal, black belt, and a special server's prayer book. The boys installed were as follows: Allan Bradshaw, Secretary; Robert Hambrook, Arthur Tickner, Robin Millikin, Hugh Peel, Norm Johnson, Bill Johnson, Mas Mottotsuni, Ron Costen and Peter Glodzik.

On the same morning the A.Y.P.A. held a Sunrise Breakfast and Service on the shore of the lake at Winona. The outdoor service was to hold their monthly corporate communion, and as guests for the morning they had the A.Y.P.A. of St. Thomas Anglican Church of Hamilton. After the service conducted by the Rector, Rev. A. E. Ongley, a rousing campfire was started, and a hearty breakfast enjoyed by all present.

CONFIRMATION SERVICE AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

The Right Rev. L. W. B. Brough, M.A., D.D., Lord Bishop of the Anglican Diocese of Niagara, officiated at the ceremony of the Apostolic Rite of the Laying On of Hands at St. John's Anglican Church, Winona, on Friday evening, June 24th. Assisting Bishop Brough was the Venerable Archdeacon G. F. Scovell of Grimsby, a former Rector of the church. During the service two servers were on duty with Bill Johnson attending the Bishop and Douglas Hambrook attending Archdeacon Scovell as Epistol server. The fifteen confirmees were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Benner, Miss Nora Carpenter, Miss Olive Jones, James Sagara, Joy Kono, Sandra Biggar, Dian Kaiser, Marion Wilkes, Richard Tickner, Margaret MacIntosh, Angus MacIntosh, Willis MacIntosh, Wallace Thomson, and Ronald Thomson. Many of the congregation were present to witness the beautiful ceremony after which a reception was held at the Rectory. It was given by the Women's Chancel Guild of the church, under the leadership of Mrs. Armand Smith, president. His Lordship, Bishop Brough presented the confirmees with a confirmation certificate. Tea was poured by Mrs. Walter Tane.

WINONA W.I. ENJOYS BUS TRIP TO BUFFALO

Under the direction of Mrs. W. Carter, convener for the Historical Research Committee, the Winona Women's Institute enjoyed a bus tour throughout the scenic route to Buffalo on Thursday, June 23rd. The group started off at 9.30 a.m. and made their first stop at Queenston. From there they were taken to Buffalo where they visited the University Methodist church to enjoy lunch, provided by the ladies of the church. Mar professed interest in the large kitchen, which were complete with huge steam tables. A trip to the outdoor zoo, the many beautiful parkways of Buffalo, and a trip through Sears and Roebucks was the time spent in that city very short. All admired the store, as the low prices of American goods and Mrs. Carter reports that many purchases would have been been back to this side if the Canadian customs hadn't been veremphatic about not letting them y anything in the U.S. The bus took them over the Peace Bridge along the Canadian River and to Niagara Falls, and homeward a happy day.

BUSY DAY AT POLLS

Voting in the Winona area was held at the Legion Hall on Monday, starting promptly at 9 a.m. When voting began there was a good line-up waiting to cast their ballots. Returning officers were Alvin Fletcher and Don Johns, who saw that all ballots were delivered safely into the big box with the seal. There was a fair amount of good-natured badinage exchanged as well-known "die-hards" met, but the day began on a well humoured note and ended that way. A few voters had omitted to see that they were on the list, but all in all everything proceeded smoothly and with little delay. Polling clerks were Mrs. Howard Hammel and Mrs. Don McCollum. Scrutineers were C. J. Bradshaw, Edgar Leng, B. Krulicki, Mrs. Harold Thomas, Mrs. Art Somerleigh, Mrs. Olive Bolton, Miss Islay Wickham.

THINGS SEEN AROUND

Relays of relatives bringing succour to the polling clerks and scrutineers!
A delightful feature of the election was the serving of tea, with C. J. Bradshaw pouring! All day!
Many loyal party supporters on the "sick list" who came and cast their vote anyway!
Domestic touch... Mrs. Don McCollum bringing a portable radio that gave with the soap-operas during the long ordeal!
The great number of new Canadians who were obviously voting for the first time in a new country!
A fish outside the window!
Many of the male voters were an envious shade of green... could be they were ill... or perhaps in the midst of spraying?
Democratic scene... Mrs. M. A. Cudney and Alvie Fletcher beaming at each other, and enjoying a lively exchange of banter!

TAPLEYTOWN BRIEFS

On Saturday afternoon, June 11, the wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Tweedie of their daughter, Gladys Laurence, to Robert Neil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Staples, Tapleytown. The Rev. J. L. Quinn conducted the ceremony. Mrs. Robert Wade, played the wedding music and accompanied the soloist Robert Wade. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long gown of white satin, fashioned with a net yoke, and the skirt had a short train. Her long veil was held in place by an Orange Blossom headpiece and she carried red roses and white sweet peas. Her cousin, Mrs. Charles Leach, was bridesmaid, dressed in pink sheer with matching headpiece and carried mauve sweet peas, and pink carnations. Mr. Vernon Staples was his brother's best man. To date the Fruit Belt League officials have not bothered to mention the fact that the public is a rifle weary of the system at present being adopted relative to the selection of umpires. PERHAPS ONCE IS NOT ENOUGH, SO AGAIN WE ASK WHY THEY DO NOT AT LEAST MAKE SOME EFFORT TO APPOINT QUALIFIED UMPIRES.

A Midget League is soon to be started in the district, comprised of six teams. Fruitland, Winona, Van Wagner's Beach, Beamsville and two teams from Stoney Creek. To this solid idea has been added the possibility of organizing Pee Wee teams in the Winona-Fruitland area. There is little doubt but that these are the kids who need the break, and the guys behind the idea are to be congratulated for their efforts in getting the idea started.

Tom Collin reports that the girls' softball team which is operating out of Winona practised twice last week, and is shaping up very well. This team is not connected with the West Lincoln Girls' League, and apparently will have difficulty arranging games. A Grimsby team is reported to be ready to play—but getting information on their activities is harder to get than winning an election.

We note that Ruth Powell is preparing to get the Red Cross swimming classes underway down a Grimsby Beach. It's a grand idea for the young, and not bad for the older people either. The art of swimming—and more important a good knowledge of water safety—is something that every person should have.

Frank Pautka, recently appointed Recreational Director, is now prepared to institute a full programme for the children of Grimsby this summer. A lengthy list of activities certainly should hold the interest of the young fry, as it includes all kinds of field sports, swimming, hiking and gym work. The Recreational Council is expected to meet this week to iron out any kink that might appear on the proposed programme.

Heartily endorsed by The Independent, we herein print an application which every boy or girl should fill out and send in to the Recreational Director. You will note that two forms are included, this is provided for families who may have more than one child desiring to take advantage of the summer programme.

TESTING COINS

When an American silver coin is dropped on a hard surface, the presence or absence of a ringing sound is not conclusive proof that it is either genuine or counterfeit. Some genuine coins have actually sounded like lead pieces owing to a slight imperfection in minting. Conversely, some counterfeit coins have been so made that they rang perfectly. A notable example was a United States half dollar, thousands of which were put in circulation on the East Coast before their counterfeiters were finally captured in 1942.

They should report on enrolment day or contact Miss Ruth Powell. These classes will be held during the first three weeks of July after which the test will be taken. Applicants should be fourteen years of age or over.

Instructors for this year's classes will be Misses Marjorie Morton, Ruth Clarke, Helen Burns, Jewel De La Plante, Gail Morton and Ruth Powell.

This year's life guard at Grimsby Beach is Mr. Derek Walton, a student at Ridley College and a resident of Brazil. Mr. Walton holds his Bronze and Silver R.L.S.S. Medallions.

GRUESOME SOUVENIRS

A gruesome hobby of many Britons until a century ago was the collection of souvenirs of famous murders. For example, the barn on a farm in Surrey, England, in which a young girl, Maria Marten, was killed by a maniac in 1827, was visited by hundreds of these collectors, many of whom had come from Scotland and Ireland. Those who arrived too late to get a piece of the barn itself, made off with anything they could find near by, including sticks and stones.

CREWS MUST BE GOOD

Besides the condition of its hull and machinery, the seaworthiness of ship, under maritime law, covers other factors including the quality and fitness of the officers and crew. Therefore, the courts have awarded damages to seamen for injuries received through the fault of "unseaworthy" crews. In one case, the plaintiff was beaten by tough mate. In another, the mate was hurt through the inability of crew members to act quickly in an emergency. They were Chinese and could not follow an order until it had been explained to them by their interpreter.

YOU'LL FIND a wide range of uses for this new ALL-METAL Dodge Suburban.

Beamsville 15; Peach Kings 10
The Peach Kings may well say "what happened" for in one big eighth inning their rivals from Beamsville rocked the old Peach King boat and scored ten runs to take a fifteen to ten decision. Played before a good crowd at the Public school, the Kings needed a win to stay in second spot, whereas the Beamsville lads had the opportunity to go into first place, which they did thanks to the big eighth inning.

Geddes and Bouk had a bit of a pitchers' duel for seven innings, as Little John hurled his best effort of the season for the Beamsvillians, and Bouk was steady until the roof caved in.

The Kings held a three run margin at the end of seven, and even after Beamsville's big inning, the Kings fought back with four more runs, but failed to come close to the hot pace being set by the Reid coached squad.

Belcot on the mound for he winners held the Taps to four scattered hits, while Clark gave up eleven, seven of which were converted into game-winning runs. The best feature of the Taps effort was the fact that they kept their errors down to a paltry three, which is quite an improvement over past performances.

Tues., July 5—Beamsville vs. Stoney Creek; Fruitland vs. Smithville.
Wed., July 6—Tapletown vs. Beamsville.

Peach Kings 8; Stoney Creek 6
Breaking an eighth inning tie, the Peach Kings came through with a two run rally in the ninth to earn a neat eight to six win over the Stoney Creek nine, in a game played under the lights at the Creek park.

Both teams scored two in the second, with the Kings going one up in the third as Bob Neale scooped home on a Creek error. Three big runs in the sixth gave the Creek the lead for the first time, but the Kings in the seventh as Neale, Demerling and Mason scored after successive singles. The Kings winning counters came after Mason singled, and Buchanan doubled him home. Gregory came through with a lusty triple to score Buchanan, and that wrapped up the game. Gordie Buchanan bore down for three straight outs in the Creek half of the ninth.

Batteries—Grimsby, Buchanan and Bentley; Creek, Baker and Coy.

Beamsville 24; Tapletown 13
Beamsville took a firm hold on second place and threatened Smithville's first place standing, as the men of Reid romped through nine innings of loose ball with the Tapletown crew. Errors were plentiful, with the winners committing a total of ten, which is rather a poor showing for a team sitting up near the top of the Fruit Belt League.

Registering twenty-two hits, the Beamsville nine took a seven run lead in the first inning and were never in trouble. The Tape hit Wilcox for ten hits and with the Beamsville errors managed to score thirteen runs.

Batteries—Beamsville, Wilcox and H. Reid; Tapletown, Clark and McLaren.

Beamsville 14; Smithville 5
Taking a liking to Tyler's pitching, Beamsville hit for eighteen hits and scored fourteen runs to go into a two way tie for first place as they downed last year's champs by a fourteen to five count. Don Konkle buried one of his best efforts for the improved Beamsville squad, holding Smithville to seven scattered hits. Played in Smithville before a fair crowd, the Beamsville squad teed off in the first inning with three runs, picked up six more in the middle and ended up with a big five run rally in the ninth. Both teams kept errors down to a minimum.

Batteries—Beamsville, D. Konkle and R. Konkle; Smithville, Tyler and Bouk.

Don Konkle buried one of his best efforts for the improved Beamsville squad, holding Smithville to seven scattered hits. Played in Smithville before a fair crowd, the Beamsville squad teed off in the first inning with three runs, picked up six more in the middle and ended up with a big five run rally in the ninth. CANADIANS BEATEN BY DUTCH SPEEDER

RODGERS AND HART STORY AT ROXY FRIDAY

"The Three Musketeers," Alexandre Dumas' immortal tale of romance and adventure comes to the Roxy on Wednesday, July 6th, with an impressive cast. The famed tale of the Gascony cadet who joins the Musketeers, becomes the first swordsman in France, pledges his loyalty to the King against the sinister machinations of Richelieu, the ambitious Prime Minister, and who becomes involved in an ill-fated romance with the lovely Constance, lady-in-waiting to the Queen, moves along at lightning pace, unfolding its narrative of dare-devil exploits and fantastic feats of heroism against some of the most stupendous 16th century backgrounds ever created for a motion picture. Lana Turner as the coldly beautiful Lady de Winter, offers one of the most arresting portrayals of her career. The part of the fearless D'Artagnan is brilliantly enacted by Gene Kelly who once again demonstrates his extraordinary dexterity. June Allyson is sympathetic and appealing as Constance. Van Heflin scores as Athos, and Angela Lansbury gives the proper dignity and poise to her role as Queen Anne. Director George Sidney has fused his contrasting elements of romance, adventure and fighting action with admirable dramatic clarity, while the picture has been given authentic backgrounds of unusual colour and magnificence. The result is a film that emerges as one of the outstanding pictures of the year.

Nowadays the electric switch makes things go. In the olden days they used the hickory switch.

TURNING THE PAGES OF "CANADA UNLIMITED"

Through swirling blizzards... along unmarked trails... the courier des bois struggled across open country with a dispatch. He slept in a bed of pine boughs in the snow, and often went days without food. Early Canada had no postal services. Couriers were hired to carry letters for those who could afford it.

When the first Post Office opened in Halifax in 1755, regular mail service to England began. In 1763, post offices were opened in Montreal, Quebec and Three Rivers by Benjamin Franklin, then Deputy Postmaster-General of the British Colonies in America.

During the 1800's, roads opened up. Boats began regular trips along the St. Lawrence. Mail services expanded until, in 1852, the Canadian Post Office was handling 3,700,000 letters. And on Christmas Day, 1898—thanks to the efforts of Sir William Mulock—penny postage was born.

Today Canada leads the world—carrying mail by air between distant points of our country... at first-class rates! From paper-making to transportation, the industries that make the postal services possible have contributed to this growth... have increased opportunity. Yet, there's room to grow in Canada Unlimited!

Just how much room is told in "Canada Unlimited", an illustrated 144 page book published by the O'Keefe Foundation. You may obtain your copy by sending 25c in cash (no stamps or cheques, please) to "Canada Unlimited", Dept. N3-11, O'Keefe House, Toronto, Ontario. Please print your name and address clearly. All monies received will be donated to the Canadian Citizenship Council.

GRIMSBY GALS WIN FROM BEACH NUTS

The West Lincoln Girl's Softball League continued into its regular schedule last Thursday night as last year's champions, the Grimsby Beach Nuts went down to a nine to seven defeat before the Grimsby Ukrainian Youth Association. The Beach girls started strongly and held onto a two lead at one point but the Grimsby team rallied in the sixth inning to grab the lead and were never threatened from that point on. Lillie Zalec started on the mound for Grimsby but failed to last and was replaced by Mary Johnson, who finished for the locals. Annie Kuz was handling catching chores. For the Beach Nuts, Donna Sprout pitched good steady ball but failed to get the support she needed. Backstop for the Beach was Ruth Thomasson.

RODGERS AND HART STORY AT ROXY FRIDAY

Taking the lives and music of one of America's greatest song-writing teams—Richard Rodgers and Larry Hart—as the basis of a film plot, M-G-M has turned out a wondrous Technicolor entertainment in "Words and Music," which comes to the Roxy on Friday, July 1st. With Tom Drake cast as Rodgers and with the exuberant Mickey Rooney playing the eccentric but brilliant lyricist Hart, the story centres on the fulfilled romance of the former with a child-hood sweetheart, contrasted with the unrequited love of Hart for an aspiring showgirl. Janet Leigh enacts Dorothy, the girl who became the future Mrs. Rodgers with Betty Garrett cast as the impulsive and warmhearted night club singer, Peggy McNeil, who turned down marriage in favour of a career. Starting with their association together while students at Columbia, the story traces the spectacular rise of Rodgers and Hart as songwriters from their early success with the "Garrick Gaieties" to such memorable Broadway musical comedies as "Conneciticut Yankee" and "The Girl Friend." In picking out the prize items of the various Rodgers and Hart shows as production numbers in "Words and Music," M-G-M has enlisted the services of its top-talented song and dance stars. With June Allyson, Perry Como, Judy Garland, Lena Horne, Gene Kelly, Mickey Rooney and Ann Blythe heading the cast, you have some idea of the wealth of musical material offered in this new offering.

TITANIC ON FIRE

Probably the only ship that was on fire during most of its active life was the Titanic, the British liner that struck an iceberg and sank on its maiden voyage to New York in 1912. The fire broke out in a bunker as the Titanic was leaving Southampton at noon on April 10th. It was still burning, four days and 14 hours later, when the huge 46,000-ton vessel went down at 2:20 a.m. on April 15th.

WALKS ON BARE HANDS

One of the greatest physical feats accomplished by a woman was that of Johanna Maselinger, an Austrian acrobat, in 1900. On her bare hands she "walked" from Vienna to Paris, a distance of 871 miles. It took her 55 days. She travelled ten hours a day, progressed at the rate of 1.58 miles an hour, or nearly 16 miles a day.

Old Unsolved Case

The Bureau of Missing Persons in New York still keeps "open" the cases of many individuals who mysteriously disappeared a long time ago. The oldest and, in some ways, the most baffling of these cases concerns Miss Dorothy Arnold who vanished while shopping alone on the afternoon of December 12, 1910. She was twenty-six, a graduate of Bryn Mawr and a member of a wealthy and prominent family which later spent more than $50,000 on a search for her. No relative or friend knew of any reason for her disappearance; and no trace of her has ever been found.

BILL METCALFE IN CHARGE OF PICNIC FOR OPTIMISTS, JULY 6

The Grimsby Optimist Club held their last meeting of the current season at the Village Inn last Thursday night with a good number of members in attendance. The big topic of the evening was the Optimist Picnic to be held on July 6th at Grimsby Beach. Bill Metcalfe was appointed chairman of the event and the following arrangements were made. All Junior Optimists and Senior Optimists who need transportation are to meet at the library at 8 o'clock on the sixth and they will be taken to the Beach. A full program of sports and games, including softball, has been arranged and supper will be at 6:30 p.m. sharp.

Chairman Bob Hyland of the Boat Ticket Committee reported and said that tickets are going very well and the sale will continue until early August. The draw will be made at the Aquatic Meet to be held at Grimsby Beach early in August.

The other major item of business at the meeting was the report that the proceeds of the recent auction sale had been turned over to the Boys' Work Committee.

The first electric railway line in service in Canada ran between Windsor and Walkerville, Ontario. It was established in July of 1886.

Stuff Round Town

By No Political Affiliation

This week for lack of anything important doing around town we shall delve into one of nature's little characteristics... the smile.

The smile is, according to a fellow by the name of Webster, a facial expression indicative of amusement, pleasure or affection, or of (a) irony, (b) contempt, (c) derision. Take your pick. It is noted during the past couple of days that some people about the Town are smiling, some broadly, some bravely.

One of the widest smiles we have encountered, was spread all over the kindly face of the Reeve of North Grimsby, Mr. John Aikens. Reverting back to Webster we would say offhand, and we do like to speak offhand, even though it is considerably more difficult than by mouth) that John is wearing a smile of extreme pleasure. The Aikens smile could, of course, be attributed to a recent political issue which was won by a party known as the Liberals, which over a half century ago had occasion to smile in this County, but have been consistently straight-faced ever since.

We note that along with smile, Webster has a word known as smirk, which he describes as a smile in a self-satisfied way. Which perhaps is fair enough for the Reeve who also happens to be the president of the Liberal Association in Lincoln.

But on to other smiles. Having touched on the smile of pleasure, we instituted a search for a smile of irony. These dear friends, were very difficult to locate. As a matter of fact the only one we caught was a die-hard Tory just a second before he leaped over the Forty Bridge exclaiming in a voice quivering with valor, "ALL IS LOST. LONG LIVE THE TORIES." (He is now resting comfortably in hospital suffering from a bruised knee. He shoulda looked before he leaped. The Forty is as dry as a beer-drinker on election day.)

The affectionate smile was perhaps the easiest to find. The affectionate Grita looked kindly on the other fellow, promising that all would be well, and that they would not disown them just because of their inability to pick a winner.

But unfortunately not all smiled with affection or pleasure. There were smiles of contempt. These mostly coming from the very few persons in our fair town who should be getting a little tired of waging a losing battle. It will take more than a smile of contempt to get Alberta in Lincoln, fellows. Why not give up?

The smile of derision is the one smile that we hope there is not too ample a showing of. Derision is a term used to express scorn and contempt or even ridicule. Even these victorious Liberals could hardly muster a smile of this nature. Having won a contest that was clearly fought between two fine candidates, everyone should be proud of the fact that the people have given their decision in Lincoln and come what may, for five years we shall benefit or suffer under the present administration.

The bravest smile we can find this week is that worn by our editor and boss, who within a few days will enter hospital for surgery that we pray will restore his full eyesight and bring him back to his chair, pastepot and scissors. It is a great credit to Bones Liv-

High in the mountains of Flores Island, off the coast of Java, is a unique set of three crater lakes separated from one another by thin walls of rock. Owing to the presence of minerals, each body of water has not only the consistency and opacity of paint but also a distinctive color of its own. One lake is ruby red, one is turquoise blue, while the other is colored a brilliant emerald green.
